learning opportunities for the state's most vulnerable children. ISU ECEC will use the grant funds to support safety-related expenses and challenges as it continues to serve families in the wake of the coronavirus pandemic.

"We appreciate Lilly's commitment to early childhood education in Indiana," said Janet Buckenmeyer, Ph.D., dean of the ISU Bayh College of Education. "The pandemic created unique circumstances for operating early childhood centers, and addressing the health of all is important to the goal of providing safe, educational opportunities for our youngest and their caregivers."
