Volunteers needed for Special Olympics' Summer Games at ISU

The Summer Games, Special Olympics Indiana's signature event, is set to return to Terre Haute on June 12-13 with competition taking place at Indiana State University and Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology.

ISU students and staff are invited to volunteer. The registration link and instructions are at this link.

"Our team and the Special Olympics Indiana athletes are beyond thrilled to be returning to ISU and 2021 Summer Games," said Kelly Ries, Director of Donor Engagement at Special Olympics Indiana.

All but two summer games have been hosted at ISU since Special Olympics Indiana was founded in 1969 by faculty members Dr. Tom Songster and Dr. Judy Campbell. Its headquarters was on the ISU campus for many years before moving to Indianapolis in 1990.

The first Indiana summer games took place just one year after the inaugural Special Olympics International games in Chicago.

Special Olympics Indiana is part of the global Special Olympics movement. It serves more than 16,000 each year through year-round sport, health, education, and leadership programs.
