Our President

Alan C. Rankin officially took the office of President of Indiana State University July 1, 1965. He holds a Doctor of Social Science degree and a Master of Arts degree in Political Science from Syracuse University. His undergraduate degrees (B.S. and B.A.) were earned at Fort Hayes Kansas State College, where he ranked academically first in his class, was president of the student body and editor of the yearbook.

Dr. Rankin came to ISU from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was Vice Chancellor for Student and General Affairs. He had also served as Acting Chancellor of the University. In addition to his responsibilities in the student affairs at Pittsburgh, he had administrative responsibility for the University's cultural and educational exchange programs, overseas programs in Latin America, the University Press, the equal opportunities program, continuing education for women and the office of educational resources and services.

He is an expert in foreign affairs, having served in the Panama Canal Zone from 1940-45, worked in the reorganization of the Japanese Civil Service out of General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters following the war, studied the Marshall Plan in Europe under a program sponsored by the University of Vermont in 1948, participated in a public administration study in Indochina in 1954 for the Ford Foundation and Cornell University, and an internship in government in the office of the late Senator Robert H. Taft.

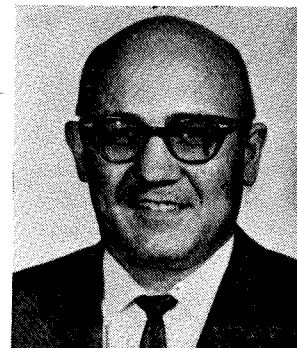

The community-minded ISU President currently is the President of the Board for the Terre Haute Committee for Area Progress; and a member of the boards for the Governmental Affairs Institute and the Swope Art Gallery. Among his community endeavors while in Pittsburgh, Dr. Rankin served on the World Affairs Council, the Pittsburgh Chamber Music Society and the Pittsburgh Playhouse.

He has written for the National Municipal Review, the Administrative Science Quarterly, Personnel Administration, and other journals.

He and his wife, also a graduate of Fort Hayes Kansas State College, have one daughter, Lynn, born in 1949.

Athletic Director

Robert L. Hollar was appointed acting Athletic Director at Indiana State July 29, 1966, succeeding his long-time colleague, John L. Longfellow.

He joined the ISU staff in 1950 and has been associated with the University as both a teacher and a coach since that time. Prior to coming to Indiana State, Hollar had served on the faculties and coaching staffs at Van Buren High School, New Paris High School and Hanover College.

At the time of his appointment, Hollar was the head golf coach for the Sycamores, and this past spring his linksters won the Indiana Collegiate Conference title. He was also serving as freshman basketball coach and assistant to head coach Duane Klueh. From 1955 until 1964, Hollar was the freshman coach in all sports at Indiana State.

He was first assigned as Dean of Students at the University's Laboratory School and he also served as the football line coach for Indiana State's varsity grid-ers.

Hollar is a native of New Paris, Indiana, and a graduate of the New Paris High School. He was graduated from Manchester College in 1941 and started his teaching-coaching career at Van Buren High School that year. He won varsity letters in football and basketball while at Manchester College.

After serving his country with the U.S. Army in the Pacific Theatre in World War II, Hollar returned home and earned his master's degree at Indiana University in 1946. He joined the Hanover College staff in 1947 and then moved to the New Paris High School faculty in 1948. In addition to his master's degree, he has completed additional post-graduate work at Indiana State University.

He holds the academic rank of associate professor of physical education at the University.

Athletic Trainer

Mel Blickenstaff joined the Indiana State University staff five years ago as athletic trainer and he has been an invaluable help to the Sycamores' athletic program ever since that time.

His previous experience includes nine years of service as a coach in Northern Indiana high schools, three years as a physical reconditioning instructor in the Air Force hospitals during World War Two, and eleven years as athletic trainer at Columbus High School at Columbus, Indiana.

"Blick" as he is known by ISU athletes and coaches, earned his bachelor of science degree at Manchester College, his master of science degree at Indiana University and has specialized in instructions in physical education and athletic training at Indiana University.

His wife Mary is a physical education teacher at McLean Junior High School in Terre Haute, while his oldest son, Jim, is a teacher and diving coach at Evans-ton High School. His other two sons are still in school. John is a junior at Indiana State and a member of the ISU golf squad, while Bill is a ninth grader at Glenn Junior High School.

ISU

Origin of "Sycamores"

The name "Sycamores" was adopted by a student body general election in 1921. A contest was started that year for a school name to be selected on Blue and White day, a forerunner of Homecoming. The names were to be submitted to a committee of four, with their three choices being given a vote. The name Sycamores was among the three finalists submitted. Although it was roundly booed when placed on the ballot, the students, in an apparent joke, gave the name a one-sided victory in the election. The winner of the contest received $3 as first prize for his entry. The name was first used January 3, 1922 in the Normal Advance, predecessor of the Statesman, campus news paper.

Coach Klueh

Duane Klueh will start his 12th year as basketball coach at Indiana State this winter and the former ISU All American has racked up a 163-113 record in his first eleven years here.

Last season, Klueh coached the Sycamores to a 22-6 record overall, a 9-3 slate in Indiana Collegiate Conference play, and a tie for the league title with national powerhouse Evansville. It was the first time since 1951 that an Indiana State basketball team had won the league hardcourt crown.

Klueh was Indiana State's first basketball All American, being selected to the Helms Foundation University honor team in 1948. That same year, he was named the recipient of the Chuck Taylor Outstanding Player Award in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) national tourney in Kansas City, Mo., a tourney which saw the Sycamores place second to Louisville.

He still holds the career scoring mark at Indiana State with a total of 1,432 points in his three-year career here from 1946 to 1949.

Following his graduation in 1949, Klueh joined the professional basketball ranks playing two years with the then Ft. Wayne Pistons in the National Basketball Association. After his two-year stint as a pro player, he moved to the high school ranks as a coach.

Taking over the reins as varsity coach at Fowler High School in Benton County, he guided his teams to three sectional championships in four years. Klueh left Fowler in 1955 to become head basketball coach at Indiana State.

After losing seasons in his first three years here, the Sycamore coach guided Indiana State teams to winning years in seven of the next eight years. He has been named as ICC Coach-of-the-Year three times in his first eleven years at Indiana State.

Coach Klueh was originally from Terre Haute, playing his high school ball for State High School and Paul Wolf, presently the baseball coach at Indiana State University. Following his graduation from high school, Klueh joined the U.S. Navy and served two years in the Pacific Theatre aboard the aircraft carrier, U.S.S. Wasp.

Coach Rendel

Jim Rendel starts his second year as a staff member on the Indiana State University staff, but this is his debut as a basketball coach. Rendel, a 1961 graduate of Earlham College, will coach the freshman team and serve as an assistant to Varsity Coach Duane Klueh.

Last year, he worked with Coach Klueh and Coach Hollar in the Indiana State basketball picture and served as freshman baseball coach.

Rendel is a native of Gary and a graduate of Lew Wallace High School there. Before coming to Indiana State, he served as the executive director of the Boys' Club at Richmond for some seven years.

Maehling Award

J. J. Maehling, life-long educator in Vigo County and staunch supporter of Indiana State athletics, originated the Alpha Tau Omega Basketball Honor Award in his name in 1963.

Each year, the award goes to the junior varsity player selected as the Outstanding Junior on the team and the winner is given a trophy and recognition at Honors Day.

Maehling was graduated from Indiana State University and the University of Chicago, and also attended Harvard and New York Universities.

Past winners of the annual award have been Wayne Allison (1963) of Hutsonville, Ill., Lennie Long (1964) of East Chicago, Joe Warfel (1965) of Columbus, and Butch Wade (1966) of Columbus.

SYCAMORE

This could be the greatest year in the history of Indiana State University basketball, but there are some "ifs" attached.

On the surface, it would appear that Coach Duane Klueh, entering his 12th year as the head mentor of the Sycamores, would be all smiles since he has all five regulars back from last year's 22-6 squad that averaged 97.2 points-per-game.

But even though Indiana State was a high-scoring quintet last winter, they were something less than fantastic as a defense, allowing the opponents an average of 82 points-per-contest.

Coach Klueh has made no secret of the fact that he would like to see both the defense and the rebounding improved this winter. He says, "We think both the defense and rebounding will be improved simply due to the fact that we have more depth . . . when someone starts tiring slightly, we have the bench strength to get him out of there and rest him a couple of minutes."

The Sycamores are also looking to 6-8 Rich Mason, a transfer from Northwestern and a former all-stater from East Chicago Washington, to aid in the rebounding department. Should Mason come through, a great deal of the rebounding problems would be solved.

Two All Americans, Jerry Newsom and Butch Wade, will lead the potent offense again this winter. Between the two former Columbus High School stars, the Indiana State record books have already been almost completely re-written. What records the pair doesn't hold, are within easy sight of them this year.

Newsom, as a sophomore last year, dumped in 745 points to set a new one-year scoring mark for the school. Wade, a senior that is equally at home at either center or forward, and will undoubtedly see action as a guard this year, is within 288 points of the career scoring mark at Indiana State, held by Sycamore coach Klueh. Another year by Newsom such as last year, would also put him over the career mark with still another season to play.

A strong supporting cast will be evident with last year's other three regulars also returning. They include Mike Phillips, a 6-3 jumping jack who draws the top front line defensive assignment each game; and speedster guards Rich Edgerton and Jim Crone.

Edgerton was also a starter as a sophomore and has averaged over 9.0 points-per-game in each of his first two varsity seasons. Easily the fastest man on the team, Edgerton assumes the role of playmaker while also undertaking the top backcourt defensive assignment in each Indiana State encounter. Crone is a fine shooter as his 12.4 average per game from last year will attest.

Two more lettermen from last year expected to see a great deal of action are Steve Hollenbeck and John Ryden. Hollenbeck shows playmaking abilities and good shooting, while the 6-3 Ryden can play both forward and guard . . . and probably will. Ryden is a deadly shooter and a fine rebounder for his size.

Two top prospects among the five sophomores on the roster are 6-1 guard Mike Copper and 6-5 center Fred Hardman. Both will see a great deal of action this winter in relief roles. Copper has a deadly eye and good speed, while Hardman is considered a good rebounder and the "quickest" man on the team. Neither player is a scoring slouch as their 25 and 12 ppg averages as freshmen will testify.

Three more sophomores adding team depth are Ken Hass, Jerry Novak and Jim Waites. Hass is a good shooter and fine rebounder, while Novak has good moves underneath. Waites, who has played the front line throughout his career, is making the tough transition to the backcourt this winter for the Sycamores.

There will be some changes in the Indiana State style of play this winter. Instead of being almost exclusively a fast-break team, the Sycamores will play more of a pattern style of ball this winter.

However, they will still take advantage of a fast break when the opportunity arises, according to Klueh. He has also stated that State will not use the full-court zone press exclusively this winter, but just on given occasions to surprise and disrupt an opponent. "We feel the zone press will not hurt the good team except as a surprise move," states the ISU coach.

The Sycamores will get a good indication as to how tough they may be this winter in the second week of the season when they travel to Pittsburgh for the Steel Bowl Classic where they will meet major powers Pittsburgh, Duquesne and Columbia. A good showing in the tourney would indicate the Sycamores are ready to provide a stiff test for their opponents.

In the tough Indiana Collegiate Conference, State and Evansville, the co-winners of the crown last year, will be the teams to beat, but almost every team in the league will be improved.

Sycamore

JERRY NEWSOM, center, 6-6, 220, jr.—A UPI All American last year, his first in varsity competition, Newsom started his assault on the Indiana State scoring records with a total of 745 points, a one-season record. He was a unanimous choice for the All Indiana Collegiate Conference team. Coming to Indiana State from Columbus High School, Newsom is considered a tremendous offensive player with a fine touch and great moves. He is also a strong rebounder.

BUTCH WADE, forward-guard, 6-4, 195, sr.—Twice named to the all conference team, Wade was a UPI All American his sophomore season. He was the team's leading scorer as a sophomore and over a two-year span, has averaged over 23 points-per-game. With his scoring potential, has been a marked man from the start of his collegiate career. Has fine inside moves and is a good rebounder, particularly for his size. Is equally at home at forward or center and will probably see some action as a guard this winter.

MIKE PHILLIPS, forward, 6-3, 220, jr.—Was a starter from his first game as a college player and had a fine sophomore year with an 8.5 points-per-game average. Gained poise and confidence as a sophomore and is considered the top front-line defensive player. As such, usually draws the toughest defensive assignment on front line. Is also considered a fine ball-handler.

JIM CRONE, guard, 5-10, 150, sr.—Jim transferred to Indiana State from the University of Tennessee, and after sitting out the required year, moved into a starting berth. He responded with a 12.5 ppg average, good for third high on high-scoring team. Has good speed and is fine outside shooter. A campus leader, the former Connersville High School player, is the president of the Indiana State Student Government Association.

RICH EDGERTON, guard, 5-11, 175, sr.—A two-year letterman and a starter both years, this speedster is one of the most accurate shooters on the team. He shot 57 percent from field and 85 percent from foul line in averaging 9.0 points-per-game last year. Usually has toughest defensive assignment in backcourt and has good playmaker qualities.

JERRY NOVAK, forward, 6-6, 220, so.—From Hammond Clark High School, Jerry is a good outside shooter and a strong rebounder. Needs to work on defense. Considered a hard worker by Indiana State coaching staff.

Profiles

RICH MASON, center-forward, 6-8, 205, jr.—A transfer student from Northwestern where he was a part-time starter as a sophomore. Is an excellent jumper and a fine shooter, particularly from outside. Indiana State coaching staff is hoping he can add some needed board strength.

MIKE COPPER, guard, 6-1, 175, so.—Leading scorer with 25.4 average as freshman and considered one of two best sophomore prospects. Well-schooled in fundamentals, is good percentage shooter and has desire and hustle. Also a playmaker with good speed, was national high school free throw champion while at Valparaiso High School.

FRED HARDMAN, center, 6-5, 210, so.—Another outstanding sophomore prospect, Hardman has excellent offensive moves near basket. Is probably "quickest" player on squad and offers good rebounding potential. Was second leading scorer on frosh squad last winter with 12.5 ppg average.

KEN HASS, forward, 6-6, 200, so.—Offers strong rebounding potential. Has good offensive moves underneath basket, needs to develop outside shooting. Has hustle and desire, a defensive prospect for Sycamore teams the next three years.

JOHN RYDEN, guard-forward, 6-3, 170, jr.—Can play both guard and forward and will see action at both posts this winter for Sycamores. Has good touch and is definite scoring threat any time he gets his hands on ball. Is considered an excellent rebounder.

STEVE HOLLENBECK, guard, 6-1, 225, jr.—"Holly" is a very capable ball-handler and a good scorer. He is an excellent shooter when he has a "hot hand." A hustling, spirited type ballplayer that can fire up a team when it is mentally lax. Has fine inside moves for a guard and good playmaking qualities.

JIM WAITES, guard, 6-3, 200, so.—Is an excellent jumper, but considered too small to play front line in college. Is spending a lot of time this year learning to play guard position.

PROSPECTS

Speed and quickness will make up for overall lack of size of Huskies. New coach promises fast break brand of offense and aggressive defense. Leading scorer Willie Hanson (19.6) is back as are five other junior lettermen.

All Americans

Butch Wade, senior from Columbus, became Indiana State's fourth basketball All American in 1965 when he was selected by both United Press International and Associated Press for the honor.

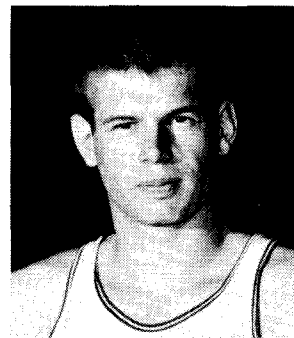

Wade holds most of the scoring records at Indiana State, including most points for one game (43), best season per game scoring average (27.3), most free throws in a single game (24), most consecutive free throws in one game (23) which is also a conference record, most rebounds in the Arena (22), and the third best among the all time leaders in season scoring marks (627).

The 6-4, 195-pounder, who plays forward, center and guard, starts this season with 1,145 points, just 287 points shy of the Indiana State all time career scoring mark of 1,432, held by Butch's coach, Duane Klueh.

He has twice been named to the all conference team and was second in league scoring two years ago, while ranking third in conference scoring last winter.

Jerry Newsom, 6-6 center from Columbus, became the second Indiana State sophomore in as many years to be named to an All American team. He was honored by United Press International with the selection last winter.

Already he holds the all time mark for most points scored in one season (745) and it appears there isn't a school scoring record safe from this sharp-shooting junior.

Last winter, he averaged 26.6 points-per-game in 28 outings, second best among the all time marks, and was the second-leading scorer in the Indiana Collegiate Conference, as well as a unanimous choice to the all conference team.

While hitting the bucket for a .608 percentage from the field and a .781 clip from the foul line, Newsom found time to pull down 311 rebounds, high for the team.

Arena

Indiana State's outstanding Arena was put into use for the first time in February, 1962, and officially dedicated in December, 1962. This building has a large gymnasium which can be used as three gyms or converted into one large gym for basketball games and other events.

The Arena is unique in that the roof is the largest single span, poured cement roof in the world. The huge mechanized bleacher system also represents one of the largest systems of its type found anywhere in the world.

The gym is serviced by two sections of 30-row mechanized, folding bleachers which provide seating for some 5,000 persons. These bleachers, in a retracted position, take up only five or six feet of floor space. When extended, the bleachers take up about 60 feet of floor space. Additional end bleachers used in the gym increase the seating capacity to nearly 6,000 persons. The Indiana State University Arena also has a gymnastics room, wrestling room, several dressing rooms, a trainer's room, an equipment room, an Olympic-type swimming pool with one-meter and three-meter diving boards, a suite of faculty offices and three classrooms.

The lower level of the building, the area directly under the huge Arena gym, is a dirt-covered area providing facilities for indoor track practice, baseball batting and pitching cages and golf practice cages. Along side this dirt-covered area are various types of body-conditioning equipment, including weight-lifting room and a steam room, and locker facilities.

Today, Indiana State University is being called one of the "fastest growing universities in the Midwest." There is good reason for this. Just two years ago, in the fall of 1964, the enrollment at ISU was 7,777. This year, it will be near the 11,000 mark and the end isn't even in sight.

In its relatively new university status, Indiana State is adding new courses of study, beefing up existing programs, creating new service and academic units, increasing its strong faculty, and building new buildings and facilities as fast as possible to cope with the continuing spiraling enrollment.

Residence hall construction has been extremely rapid with two new residence halls rushed to completion in each of the last five years. Two 10-story units opened this year to provide the University with 14 residence halls housing about 5,200 students.

The present Science Building, opened in 1960, is presently undergoing a $4.2 million addition, more than doubling the size. Other new buildings in the last 5-10 years including Holmstedt Hall, opened in January, 1966, the Home Economics Building, opened in 1957, and the Arena, opened in 1962.

Educational offerings have increased at Indiana State with the same rapid pace. There are now Schools of Education, Arts and Sciences, Business, Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and Nursing.

State's ever-growing campus is located in downtown Terre Haute, Indiana, near the "Crossroads of America."

History

Indiana State University was created by an Act of the Indiana General Assembly on December 20, 1865, and opened its doors to 21 students (13 women and eight men) on January 6, 1870.

The announced purpose of forming the University at that time was an institution that would "be to teachers what law school is to lawyers and medical school is to doctors."

The Act of 1865 did not provide a site for the newly-created school, but a board of trustees, appointed later, were requested to locate in an Indiana town or city cooperating with at least $50,000. Terre Haute was the only town or city in the state to come forth with an offer and it was better than originally requested. A committee from Terre Haute offered the $50,000 and in addition, real estate valued at $25,000.

The cornerstone for the original building was laid August 13, 1867. The cost of that building was some $100,000. The building later burned to the ground April 9, 1888.

The school was known as Indiana State Normal School from 1870 until 1927, when the name was changed to Indiana State Teachers College. In 1961, the name was again changed, this time to Indiana State College. The latest, and probably the final name change came in the spring of 1965 when the Indiana Legislature renamed the school Indiana State University.

Called one of the fastest growing colleges in the Midwest, State's enrollment has nearly doubled since 1963. There were some 6,800 students on campus in 1963, and enrollment during September 1966 was just shy of 11,000. Only 13 years ago, in 1953, enrollment at Indiana State was less than 1,900.
